

2023 – 2025 Sampling Plan

Lead in School Drinking Water

The Washington State Department of Health (DOH) Lead in School Drinking Water program is part of the state's efforts to reduce children's overall environmental lead exposure. Under the requirements of RCW 28A.210.410, all public schools built or with all plumbing replaced before 2016 must have all drinking water outlets tested for lead once between 2014 and 2026 and then every five years after.

Options for Sampling and Testing

Schools have two options for sampling and testing their drinking water for potential lead contamination:

1. Partner with DOH for sampling and testing – at no cost to the school district, or
2. Contract for sampling and testing in alignment with the technical guidance provided by DOH. The district must then provide the results to DOH following procedure and deadlines determined by DOH.

Which Schools Will DOH test?

The Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI) provides DOH information for schools needing testing for lead in drinking water. Every year, DOH identifies schools needing testing from the list of schools provided by OSPI.

As required by RCW 43.70.830, prior to adding a school to this plan, DOH must contact the school to determine whether the school has contracted, or is planning to contract, for sampling and testing. Note that if DOH does not hear back from a school after two attempts, they will be included in the testing plan.

The sampling plan allows schools, school communities, and the public to know which schools are identified for sampling and testing in the next two school years.

Criteria to be added to the DOH sampling list:

1. School buildings and plumbing older than 2016
2. Drinking water in the schools not sampled for lead since 2014
3. Schools not planning to hire a contractor to sample for testing school's drinking water

DOH will continue to update the list below at least yearly as new schools are added and schools are tested.

Actions after testing

After testing occurs, DOH will share results with the schools. Schools are required to post their results publicly. DOH also posts results to the DOH website. Schools have six months to adopt an action plan outlining steps they will take to remediate the outlets testing over 5 parts per billion (ppb). Schools must provide the public with notice and opportunity to comment on the school action plan before it is adopted. More information about requirements can be found on the WA State DOH | Lead in School Drinking Water webpage.
