

23-HOUR CRISIS RELIEF CENTER RULEMAKING WORKSHOP #7

NISQUALLY INDIAN TRIBE

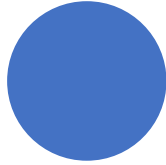

A scenic landscape view of a river valley. In the foreground, there is a dense forest of tall, green evergreen trees. The middle ground shows a wide, light-colored river or stream flowing through a valley, with a winding road visible on the left side. In the background, there are large, blue-toned mountains under a clear sky with a few wispy clouds.

The Washington State Department of Health headquarters are built on the traditional lands of the Coast Salish peoples, including the Nisqually and Chehalis Tribes.

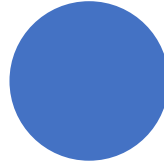

We acknowledge the systemic policies of genocide, relocation, and assimilation that have and continue to impact many Indigenous/Native American families. This land was occupied and its traditional people were displaced by settlers and the United States military.

This acknowledgement does not take the place of authentic relationships with Indigenous communities but serves as a first step in honoring the land we are on.

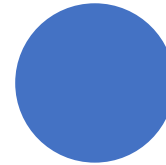

Introductions of DOH Staff

Dan Overton
Residential and Inpatient
Behavioral
Health
Program
Manager

Julie Tomaro
Facilities
Program
Deputy Director

Kseniya Efremova
Policy
Analyst

Zoom 101

- Host, panelists and attendees
- If you need/want captions
- If you require translations or other formats
- If you want to ask a question/add a comment
 - Chat will be followed as closely as possible. Comments will be logged in notes and not necessarily responded to “live”.
 - Raise your hand if you wish to speak.
 - The Q and A will serve as a “Parking lot”. Please post questions here and at the end of the workshop we will get to as many as we can “live” and respond to the remaining in the session notes that will go out later this week.
 - More information/tutorials can be found at Zoom Learning Center

Today's Agenda

- Discuss draft language related to:
 - Physical environment
 - Hospital discharge to a crisis relief center
- Wrap-up
 - Next steps
 - Future workshop to include discussion related to:
 - Full draft language review including removal of triage certification
- Q and A

Let's Take a Look

RCW Language and Proposed Rule

- “The department shall coordinate with the authority to establish rules that prohibit a hospital that is licensed under chapter 70.41 RCW from discharging or transferring a patient to a 23- hour crisis relief center unless the hospital has a formal relationship with the 23-hour crisis relief center.”
- Proposed rule in WAC 246-320 (acute care hospital standards):
 - A hospital must have a documented formal relationship, such as an agreement or memorandum of understanding, with a 23-hour crisis relief center as defined in chapter 71.24 RCW in order to discharge or transfer an individual to the center.

QUESTIONS??

Contact Information

Dan.Overton@DOH.WA.GOV

To request this document in another format, call 1-800-525-0127. Deaf or hard of hearing customers, please call 711 (Washington Relay) or email civil.rights@doh.wa.gov.