Target Self-Checkout

WIC participants can now perform WIC transactions at self-checkout stations at Target stores in Washington state.

Participants are encouraged to separate WIC foods from non-WIC items and also to scan the most expensive items first. That ensures their WIC benefits will pay for the most expensive items in the case that they must use some other form of payment for part of the transaction.

There is a 50-item limit when performing a WIC transaction. If a participant appears to have more than 50 items, they should split it into multiple transactions.

You can find out more about shopping tips in the WIC Shopping Guide.

New WIC-Approved Foods Coming in January

Starting on January 6, 2025, WIC participants will be able to buy newly approved foods from the following food categories:

- Bread and Buns
- Breakfast Cereal
- Brown Rice
- Cow's Milk and Goat's Milk
- Fresh Herbs
- Pasta
- Peanut Butter
- Soy Beverages
- Tofu
- Tortillas
- Oatmeal

Starting December 30, 2024, please work with your POS provider to ensure your system has uploaded the Approved Products List (APL). Upload the APL often from December 30 to January 6. This ensures your POS system will allow newly approved products and remove deactivated products. Our Foods team will be sending out a memo in mid-November, which will include the new UPC/PLU information.

Please work with staff to have WIC labels reflect the updated foods during January. The updated WA WIC Shopping Guide and Approved Product List \(APL\) will be available only online starting January 6, 2025. There will be several updates in 2025, and we'll be printing the Shopping Guide in October, 2025.

Foods Added to the Approved Product List

Washington WIC is only able to provide foods that are on our Authorized Product List (APL). When people or companies submit new foods, we conduct a review of the item to verify the product meets all WIC requirements. Once verified, we can add it to the APL and WIC participants will have the choice to buy the item.

We review and approve submitted foods often. In order for participants to be able to purchase the added foods, please make sure your POS system is updated.

If you have foods you'd like to submit for review, you can visit Submit Foods for Review - Vendors | Washington State Department of Health or scan the QR code.

Store Monitoring

You might see one of our friendly Vendor Management Specialists in your store completing a store monitor visit. The purpose of monitoring visits is to ensure federal regulations and vendor agreement requirements are met. During a monitor visit, we may check for:

- Hours of operation & WIC door signs posted
- Prices posted and match what is charged during an education buy
- Minimum inventory requirements
- Outdated foods
- Shelf tag usage
- Training documentation

We're always available if you have questions, issues to discuss, need training or technical assistance. We want to ensure you have the tools to be successful.

Feel free to contact us or visit Information for WIC Vendors | Washington State Department of Health.

WICShopper App-Search for Food Brands/Flavors

The WICShopper mobile app is full of useful tools that both WIC participants and WIC vendors can use to their benefit.

If a participant has their card entered into the app, they can view their benefits by clicking on the "My Benefits" icon. They can go a step further and click on a specific food item within their benefits and search for certain brand names or flavors they prefer.

See this website page for more helpful tips about the WICShopper app.
