What is iECHO?

iECHO is a central hub for ECHO programs and Washington State TB Project ECHO, accessed within the University of Washington Medicine ECHO Projects. From the iECHO homepage, you can explore and access your programs, track important updates, and stay connected with your learning community.

❗ You must have an iECHO account and be logged in to join a TB ECHO session.

How to Create an iECHO Account and Access Washington State TB Project ECHO

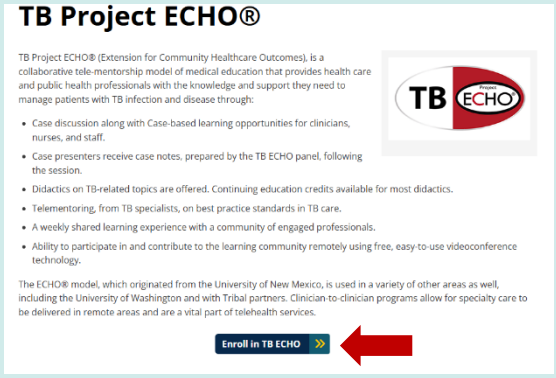
There are 3 ways to create an account in iECHO:

1

Receive an email invite from no-reply@iecho.org with a link to join.

2

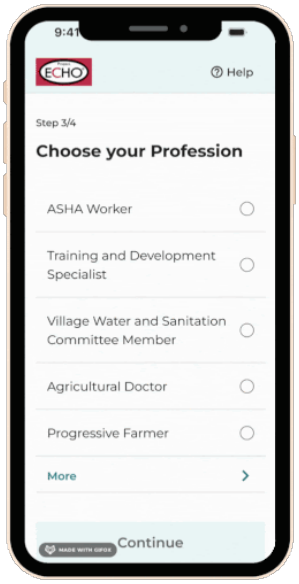
Register using the public link at doh.wa.gov/tbecho.



3

Go to iecho.org and create an account

When creating your account, you will be prompted to complete a brief set of registration questions.



If you did not register for the Washington State TB Project ECHO program using a direct link, locate the program within iECHO to complete your registration. All participants will be prompted to answer an additional set of questions before accessing the program.
