COVID-19 Vaccination Services
for Homeless Youths

Washington State Department of Health (Washington State Department of Health) has announced that effective July 6, 2021, Washington will offer COVID-19 vaccinations for homeless youth, ages 16 and 17, and their household members at seven sites across the state. These sites are set to operate for at least two weeks. Washington Department of Health (Washington Department of Health) is in the process of reaching out to homeless service providers for a list of their clients, who are to be notified by their service providers. Youth who are homeless and their household members will be able to schedule their vaccinations at these sites.

Note: The Mature Minor Doctrine is a legal doctrine that allows minors to access certain healthcare services without parental consent, such as vaccinations, in some cases. The Mature Minor Doctrine is particularly relevant in cases of homelessness, as it allows for the provision of necessary medical care for homeless youths and their household members.
